GETTING READY FOR CHRISTMAS?

Let Local Dealers Supply Your Needs. Listen to Us A Minute, Please!

This is the beginning of the season for "getting ready for Christmas." The busy housewife is knitting, crocheting, doing all kinds of fancy work and planning things for John and the boys, Mary and the other girls, Sister Jane and Cousin Elizabeth. List making is the order of the day.

This is the time of year when the mail order house gets in its work. This is the time of year when the whole family pores over the big catalogue and makes out orders for gill-edge bargains. Of course, after the goods are ordered and received, and found to be shabby shams of real articles, it is too much trouble to order over again, or to return the goods and fight for your money from company a thousand miles away—and then perhaps not get it.

How much better it is to go in person to McKee's or Elder's, or Oldham's, or Covington & Bank's, to Rice & Arnold's, Sexton's, Stanifer's or Gibson's, W. F. Higgins, Bennett & Higgins, or Hamilton Bros., Oldham & Lackey's, Lane's, Whittington's, Yeager or any other of our local firms whose names appear weekly in the home newspapers, look over the goods personally and select with your own eyes and your own fingers the very things you want?

If John or Mary or Elizabeth does not happen to want the article you purchased, how easy it is to take it back to any of our local business firms and have it exchanged for just what they do want.

Perhaps the article may cost a few cents more than the mail order house quotes—what of that? Is there no satisfaction in the guarantee of the home merchant?

There are a thousand reasons why the local merchant should be patronized—and each one of these reasons favors the purchaser. There are ten thousand reasons—from other standpoints—why he should be patronized, on account of local pride, civic justice, his liberality in time of need, etc., but these reasons it is not necessary to mention—they are known and recognized by every person who stops for a moment to think for himself.

An Unusual Offer.

Culton, 17-31, Clay B'ldg, W. Main.

New Role For a Hen

We have heard many praises sung of the hen, the queen of the barnyard, but when it comes to her majesty hobnobbing her way through from one town to another, the role is an entirely new one. When a big freight pulled into the L. & A. yards here several days ago, Car Inspector Harry Scrivner discovered a nice, fat hen on the bumper of a car, having ridden in that position all the way from Beattyville to Richmond. Mr. Scrivner took possession of the fowl and feels very proud to have found the first hobo hen in these parts. It is supposed the fowl went to roost on the car and the train pulling out at an early morning hour, she awoke to find herself traveling some.

Difficult Problem.

Now, if you knew or were convinced that you had only one more year to live in this world—one more year before you must cross the bar in the dark and sail out into the uncharted seas from which return trips have been few—some say never—what would you do—how would you live the swift-flying hours of the year?

Rather a difficult question to answer all at once, is it not? Let's stop to think. Here's the case of a girl who has been told that she can live but a year, and who tells us what she is doing. Perhaps she can help us think what we would do in like circumstances—listen: "Every day I fill the hours with what loveliness I can and when I go, there are going to be sweet memories left behind. I have started to teach a little backward lad his letters. He couldn't learn them of his teacher. That may seem to you an humble thing, but I love to do the humble things before I go. I often think it is those that most need doing."

Beautiful way to say farewell, isn't it? But let's remember that these things can be done not merely as farewells, you know, but as regular things, so that if we don't have time to do much as a memorial, the memorial will be there just the same.

Red House Items.

Mrs. J. T. Marshall spent from Friday until Sunday with relatives in Clark county.

Messrs. Wm. Boggs and James Marshall are spending a few days near London hunting.

J. C. Thomas fell from a wagon Tuesday, receiving severe injuries.

Martin Green, a well known farmer and a good citizen, passed from earth to his home above last Monday. He was buried in the Green burying ground, near Green Oak school-house.

GREEN OAK SCHOOL.—NEAR RED HOUSE.

The fifth month of Green Oak school ended Friday, the 21st inst. Those on the honor roll were: Eighth grade—Stella Marshall and Iva Dozier; sixth grade—Harry Marshall; fourth grade—Mary Stone Embree and Rutledge Dozier; second grade—Minnie and Hallie Thomas; first grade—Rufus Fletcher. Mrs. Bertha Griggs, teacher.

We buy all kinds of country produce, pay the highest market price. Give us a call. Covington Thorpe Co. 57-11.

Box of Skunks.

The Flemingsburg Gazette says that one day last week a mountain man from near the top of Fox Springs mountain came to town with a box containing 13 live skunks. He sold them to a local buyer for $26, a pretty good return for a few hours' work, which he gave to digging the cats from their dens. Red fox, skunk and other pelts are high this year and fur hunters are realizing big returns on what they can catch.

The Climax's Peril.

When one remembers that in an ordinary column there are 10,000 pieces of type, that there are seven wrong positions each letter may be put in and therefore 70,000 chances to make errors, besides millions of chances for transpositions, he will not be too critical. In the sentence, "Please hand us that dollar," by transposition alone it is possible to make 2,750,022 errors. So you see the perils that beset a printer!

Come to Owen McKee, Richmond, Ky. for dry goods and notions. Others do and why not you.

Rabbit Cholera.

Reports from adjoining counties say that a disease prevails among rabbits that is killing them off. No one seems to know how it affects the cotton-tails, but many dead rabbits have been found in the fodder shocks and in the briar patches, but none have been seen that exhibit signs of being sick or in any way afflicted.

Long Service.

Five members of the U. S. Supreme Court, including Chief Justice White, crowded into a humble little home in Washington Saturday to attend the funeral of Archie Lewis, the negro messenger who had taken care of their robes ever since they were elevated to the bench. Lewis was serving the court when three of them—Justices Day, Van Devanter and Lamar—were born, and before Chief Justice White and Justice Holmes, had started to school.

Will Get Face of Pension Warrants.

Confederate pensioners will get face value of their November pension warrants, instead of discounting them at 1 to 3 per cent., as they have done heretofore. State Treasurer Thos. S. Rhea announced Friday that the warrants for this disbursement aggregate $146,053.34, and he has made arrangements to have them cashed in Louisville, the warrants when sent out to be accompanied with instructions to the pensioners where to cash them. It was brought to the attention of the Treasurer that local claim shavers have been discounting these warrants for as much as $15 on the $100 in some instances.

Executor's Notice.

Any one having a claim against the estate of Mrs. Harriet Million will please present it to me verified, as required by law, on or before Jan'y 1, 1914, or same will be barred. Persons indebted to the estate will please settle with me before that time. R. B. Million, Executor of Mrs. Harriet Million. 17-41

The Louisville Times has the following to say regarding the return to the viva voce system. The suggestion of the Times that the voters make known to their representatives their views on this subject, is a good one.

In less than two months the General Assembly of Kentucky will be convened in biennial session. One of the questions certain to be brought before it is the amendment of the direct primaries act so as to make it more truly representative of the will of the party in its choice of nominees.

That one of the methods proposed will be a return to the viva voce system of voting is already assured. There is room for argument on both sides, but there can be no question that under the viva voce system there can be no concealment of party affiliation or mistake as to the choice of the voter as to the party nominee. It is true that it is open to the objection that men may be prevented by fear from voting their convictions. But the average Kentuckian is not averse to defining his position.

Under the present system, the man who registers as a Democrat is free, if he so desires, to vote the Republican ticket at the general election, and the rule holds good when the coin is reversed. As long as there is to be a party government there must be a party responsibility and this responsibility should be clearly fixed.

The Times has an open mind as to the wisdom of returning to the viva voce system. It is a question for the General Assembly to decide and it can be decided intelligently only through a full and frank expression of the will of the voters concerning it. To all advocates and opponents of the system the Times would suggest that they make known their views to their representatives prior to the legislative session.

Just now it is considered entirely right and proper to lambast the idle rich and to tell how unhappy and dissatisfied and characterless and immoral they are. Just as deserving of condemnation are the idle poor. The rich can afford financially to be idle. The idle poor are poor because they are idle. The man and woman to be envied are the two who are living and working and planning and building together. Speaking along this line the Chicago American sensibly says: "All real happiness is in creation, and you can not buy a good thought with a million dollars or ten millions, and all the strings of pearls and diamond sunbursts, and humble servants cannot bring happiness compared to that of the poor woman content in caring for her children and respecting the man who works for them both."

MEANS of protecting the country from any possible financial stringency when the proposed new currency system goes into effect were considered by both the Democratic and Republican wings of the Senate Banking Currency Committee on Wednesday. Our faith in President Wilson and those who have this matter under consideration is so strong, we can not feel otherwise than that this matter will be settled in such a way as to make the Currency Bill, when passed, a panacea for the abuses heretofore existing in the banking laws of the nation.

JOHN G. STOLL and fifteen other business men of prominence of Lexington have purchased the Lexington Leader from Mrs. Anna T. Roberts, the price being reported to be $120,000. The new owners will form a stock company and conduct the paper along the same lines as it has heretofore been run. They will take possession January 1, 1914.

Deserved Compliment.

A representative of the Florida Grower visited Eustis, Fla., and in his splendid write-up of that flourishing town has the following to say:

"One institution that Eustis, and in fact all Lake county and all Florida should be proud of, is the Lake Region, and this newspaper is Col. Clarence E. Woods', a native of Kentucky, who is leaving his imprint in this State as a brainy newspaper man, a splendid public speaker and a charming man to meet, a gentleman in all that much-acquired term implies. When Eustis acquired Clarence Woods she made the greatest move in her career, for he is one of the best boosters the State has ever known, and he is ever working night and day for Lake county and for Eustis. His paper is one of the cleanest, typographically, published in Florida, and clean in every other way that a live-wire man, edited by a live-wire man, should be; and if any of the Grower readers wish to read a paper we are all proud of, I recommend that they send for a sample copy of the Eustis Lake Region."

LET no pleasure tempt thee, no profit allure, no ambition corrupt thee, no example sway thee, no possession move thee, to do anything which thou knowest to be evil. —Franklin.

SOME THANKSGIVING GOODIES.

The time-honored dishes which are inseparable from Thanksgiving are so often discussed that a few different ways of serving the common vegetables may be of interest at this time.

Beets that are baked in the oven have a better flavor than when they are boiled. Care should be taken in turning them not to break the skin. Serve them sliced or chopped, seasoned with butter and pepper and salt.

Stuffed Onions.—Take as many onions as there are people to serve, par-boil them until tender but not broken. Drain, remove the centers when cold, chop three of these centers and mix with a cup of cold cooked ham, finely chopped. Moisten with cream and the yolk of an egg, well beaten. Fill the centers with this mixture.

Place a piece of butter on the top of each, put into a deep dish and bake. Pour a little milk about them and bake a few minutes covered, then remove the cover, sprinkle with buttered crumbs and when brown, serve.

Braised Cabbage.—After cutting a good sized cabbage in half, soak it in cold water for an hour or more. Then boil quickly in plenty of boiling salted water. Drain and remove the stalk from the center, after cooking twenty minutes. Put into a sauce pan one sliced carrot, one sliced turnip, one stalk of celery, a few sprigs of parsley, one sliced onion and a bunch of any herbs. Lay the cabbage on top, pour over two cupsful of stock and boil until tender. Drain. Lay on a hot dish and serve at once.

Young Carrots.—Scrape the carrots and put them into a sauce pan with a small onion, a bay leaf, a little salt and pepper. Cover with stock and stew until tender. Place on a dish around a mound of mashed potatoes.

Fried Celery.—Wash nice pieces of celery and simmer in boiling salted water until tender. Drain and cut in halves, lengthwise; brush over with beaten egg, seasoned with salt and pepper. Fry in deep fat and when a light brown remove and drain.

Sprinkle with chopped parsley and serve.

When the large, fresh mushrooms may be obtained, there is nothing more delicious to serve with a stuffing or forcemeat made of chopped ham, and seasonings, filling the caps, and then bake in a hot oven fifteen minutes.

MILE while, and while You smile another smiles, And soon there's miles And miles of smiles, And life's worth while Because you smile.

CHESTNUT TIME.

This delicious nut is so good in many ways that those who are fortunate enough to have plenty are to be congratulated.

As a stuffing for fowl they are a great delicacy. Boil and mash and season well with butter, salt and red pepper. The addition of bread crumbs helps in filling a large turkey. Mushrooms or oysters may be substituted for part of the chestnuts, if so desired. Onion, thyme or sage is added for seasoning. Plain boiled chestnuts, mashed and seasoned, are a delicious dish served as a vegetable.

French Chestnut Soup.—Peel and boil a quart of large chestnuts in salted water. Remove the brown skins and chop fine. Add a teaspoonful each of salt and sugar, the rind of a lemon and a quart of water; bring to a boil and cook slowly for an hour. Rub through a sieve, add two quarts of veal or chicken stock, a teaspoonful of parsley, finely minced, a tablespoonful of flour and butter well blended, and season with red pepper. Simmer twenty minutes, stirring all the time. Put through a sieve and serve. A yolk of egg well beaten may be added just before serving, if so desired. It makes a richer soup.

Chestnut Pancakes.—Beat separately the yolks and whites of three eggs, add three-fourths of a cup of cream, a tablespoonful each of butter and sugar with sufficient flour sifted with two teaspoonfuls of baking powder to make a batter. When the cakes are baked, spread with chestnut puree, seasoned with salt and mixed with a little cream. Roll the cakes and fasten with toothpicks. Sprinkle with powdered sugar and brown in the oven.

FARM STOCK

BOAR NEEDS GOOD ATTENTION

Pasture Not Only Saves Feed But Will Also Prove Excellent Conditioner Don't Overfeed.

The boar needs pasture as well as do the other hogs or the other stock. Pasture will not only save feed but will also be a good conditioner. If you keep a boar in a small pen, it is always muddy or dusty and then if he is poorly fed in this pen he cannot do his best, and the pigs will be a disappointment. On the other hand, the boar can be fed too much, but the trouble is usually that he doesn't get enough.

It is often thought that the boar is simply a bill of expense and that he does not need much feed. Such being the case, he is fed a little just because he must be kept alive, but this feed is the scantiest amount that can be given and the handiest feed—nearly always just a few ears of corn. He needs something stronger than ear corn. It may cost a little more, but will prove money well spent. The feed should be rich in proteins, which would call for shorts, tankage, oil meal, cowpeas, clover, alfalfa and such feeds, according to Roy Coleman in the Farmers' Review. When fed on such a ration he can produce larger litters and stronger pigs than when poorly fed.

The young boar should not be fed too heavily. If he is overfed it will make him go down in the feet. It will also cause him to wrinkle more when he becomes old. It is hard to grow a prize pig into a prize boar. But if he has not been overdone as a pig he can be made to develop into a good, sound boar.

SHOE HAS REMOVABLE CALKS

When Nearly Worn Out These Pieces or Iron Fall Out and Opening Is Left for New Ones.

A new type of horseshoe recently invented has calks that are easily placed and that fall out of the shoe when nearly worn out. The calks have prongs that are a trifle too large for the opening in the shoe, as shown in the illustration, and have to be driven in, says the Popular Mechanic. As the thread of the calk wears down, the spring action of the prong is weakened and it finally falls out or becomes so loose that it may be picked out easily, leaving the opening ready for the insertion of a new calk.

PREPARE STOCK FOR MARKET
Experience Has Shown That There Is More Growth the First Year Than Second—Keep Pushing.

In preparing stock for the market, too much stress cannot be laid upon rapid development of the animal. Experience has shown that in proportion to the food consumed by young animals, there is more growth the first year than the second, and more the second year than the third, and with each increasing year the increase in weight gets smaller in proportion to the amount of food consumed, consequently it is very essential that all young animals be kept thrifty and growing; especially is this true with all animals intended for market. This is seen in the production of baby beef, which is one of the most profitable businesses to engage in. A quick growth, and an early maturity, returns the best profit among cattle, swine, sheep and poultry. The intelligent farmer, in preparing his stock for market, should always bear in mind the importance of pushing his stock from the time they are born until placed on the market. Every day should see a gain in weight along the lines of profit, yet at the same time this crowding should not be overdone. There is danger of injuring animals by overfeeding, especially when young. If, however, the feed rations are properly made, looking toward just enough and not too little, or to much, good results may be expected in the end.

Examine Pigs' Teeth.

If the sow is observed to jump up frequently while suckling her pigs or to lie on her belly to prevent them from suckling, better examine the pigs' teeth. You may find them so sharp as to wound the sow's teats as to cause her great pain and annoyance. The needle-like points of the pig's teeth may be pinched off with a pair of pliers.

Time for Making Pork.

In a well bred hog that is growing and feeling right there is no time when it will make more pork for the food consumed than from ten weeks to six months of age.

Not Beyond Help At 87.

Sleep-disturbing bladder weakness, stiffness in joints, weak, inactive kidney action and rheumatic pains, are all evidence of kidney trouble. Mrs. Mary A. Dean, 47 E. Walnut St., Taunton, Mass., writes: "I have passed my 87th birthday, and thought I was beyond the reach of medicine, but Foley's Kidney Pills have proved most beneficial in my case."

Judge John W. Colyer, of Somerset, has been endorsed by Senator James for one of the deputyships under Collector John W. Hughes.

Croup and Cough Remedy.

Croup is a terrible disease. It attacks children so suddenly they are very apt to choke unless given the proper remedy at once. There is nothing better in the world than Dr. King's New Discovery. Lewis Chamberlin, of Manchester, O., writes about his children: "Sometimes in severe attacks we were afraid they would die, but since proved what a certain remedy Dr. King's New Discovery is, we have no fear. We rely on it for croup, coughs and colds." So can you. 50c and $1. A bottle should be in every home. At all druggists. H. E. Bucklen & Co., Philadelphia and St. Louis.

LOOKING AFTER YOUNG SOWS

Best Plan is to Have Them Farrow After Grass and Clover Start to Secure Good Pasturage.

In nearly all cases the first litter is the hardest draft on the system of the dam and for this reason, if no other, the young sows should have special care. It is best, so far as can be done to have the young sows farrow after grass and clover have made a good start, as there are few things better, than plenty of good pasturage, to enable a dam to produce milk, and a young sow if she is to suckle her litter of pigs well, must have food well adapted to milk production. A sow should always be so gentle that in case it becomes necessary, she can be handled without unduly exciting her. It is never good policy to disturb a sow at farrowing, unless absolutely necessary. As a precaution against her eating her pigs, she should have a light opening ration for a few days before farrowing and then a bucket of warm slop ready for her whenever she gets up. Be careful about overfeeding her for the first three or four days and then gradually increase her rations until she is given all that she will readily eat up clean. After the pigs are a week old, she may be allowed the run of a pasture, feeding slop regularly at least two times a day and three times is still better. Be careful to feed regularly. Slop stuff, milk or wheat bran, oil meal and milk, are hard to beat and are all good foods for breeding sows.

LIVE STOCK NOTES

Close quarters are not the thing for sheep, summer or winter.

As the hard work eases up on the horses, cut down their feed accordingly.

Sheep thrive wherever dry footing may be found. Keep them off the wet lands.

A long, rangy sow is fitted by nature to care for more pigs than a short, chunked one.

In the hog yard and pens cleanliness is not only next to godliness, but it is the price of profit.

Next to clover, rape and oats produced the largest number of pounds of pork per acre in a test.

Some men get into the sheep business by taking a small flock on shares, if a neighbor has too many.

Every successful swine breeder appreciates the value of good, strong and well matured breeding animals.

Many farmers will let the steer trample $100 worth of feed into the mud rather than spend $25 for a feed rack.

Good feeding during the breeding period is one of the essentials to the production of sound and vigorous lambs.

Never salt the horse's feed in the box. Place a big lump where he can reach it and he will take it when he needs it.

Be Jealous of The Beauty of Your Hair.

In other words, be careful of it. The beauty of your hair depends upon its health. If it's beautiful, it's healthy. To make it glossy, bright, silky-soft—to make it fall more easily into the graceful wavy folds of the coiffure—to make it stay where you put it—use Harmony Hair Beautifier. This dainty liquid dressing is just what it is named—a beautifier. If your hair is beautiful now, use it to make it even more so and to preserve its loveliness. If it is not beautiful now, Harmony Hair Beautifier will improve its appearance in a way to please you, or money back. Its rose fragrance will overcome the oily smell of your hair. Easy to apply—simply sprinkle a little on your hair each time before brushing it. Contains no oil; will not change color of hair, nor darken gray hair.

To keep hair and scalp dandruff-free and clean, use Harmony Shampoo. This pure liquid shampoo gives an instantaneous rich lather that immediately penetrates to every part of the hair and scalp, insuring a quick, thorough cleansing. Washed off just as quickly, the entire operation taking only a few moments. Contains nothing that can harm the hair; leaves no harshness or stickiness—just a sweet cleanliness.

Both preparations come in odd-shaped, very ornamental bottles, with sprinkler tops. Harmony Hair Beautifier, $1.00. Harmony Shampoo, 50c. Both guaranteed to satisfy you in every way, or your money back. Loses Automobile.

A dispatch from Harrodsburg says: Judge Hughes, the new Collector of Internal revenue for this district, was the victim of a peculiar accident last night that will cost him his automobile, and also caused him to be painfully injured. He had returned from Lancaster and his auto was waiting in the street, when his chauffeur decided to investigate some minor trouble with the car. He lighted a match to look under it and the gasoline immediately caught fire. The flames quickly enveloped the machine and Judge Hughes, in trying to extinguish them, fell and split his lip badly. The fire department finally extinguished the blaze, but not before the car had been considerably damaged.

How to Detect the Alum Baking Powder

"Which are the alum baking powders; how can I avoid them unless they are named?" asks a housekeeper.

Here is one way: take the can of a low-priced powder in your hand and read the ingredient clause upon the back label. The law requires that if the powder contains alum that fact must be there stated. If you find one of the ingredients named alum, or sulphate of aluminum, you have found an alum baking powder.

There is another and a better way. You don't have to know the names of the alum powders. Use Royal Baking Powder only; that assures you a cream of tartar powder, and the purest and most healthful baking powder beyond question.

Dairy Instruction Car.

Dairymen and farmers in every county in Kentucky through which the Southern Railway runs will have the very latest educational advantages in modern dairying served to them at practically their front doors during December, when the Southern Railway's special dairy instruction car will make a tour of the company's lines in this State.

After two weeks more in Indiana, the car will enter Kentucky Dec. 4th and will spend until Dec. 19th, making one or more stops a day each in Jefferson, Shelby, Anderson, Woodford, Scott, Fayette, Mercer and Boyle counties.

Expert dairymen, representing the Southern Railway and the State and the Federal departments of agriculture, will conduct practical demonstrations with illustrated lectures at each stop from 10 to 12 o'clock in the morning and from 2 to 4:30 in the afternoon. The itinerary for the car in Kentucky is as follows:

Dec. 4, Thursday, Jeffersontown.
Dec. 5, Friday, Clark.
Dec. 6, Saturday, Veechdale.
Dec. 8, Monday, Shelbyville.
Dec. 9, Tuesday, Hemp Ridge.
Dec. 10, Wednesday, Waddy.
Dec. 11, Thursday, Lawrenceburg.
Dec. 12, Friday, Georgetown.
Dec. 13, Saturday, Midway.
Dec. 15, Monday, Lexington.
Dec. 16, Tuesday, Versailles.
Dec. 17, Wednesday, Salvisa.
Dec. 18, Thursday, Harrodsburg.
Dec. 19, Friday, Danville.

The dairy instruction car is a complete little farm dairy in itself, having on board all the apparatus necessary to the economical handling of milk, cream and butter, together with interesting exhibits and charts showing the world's best dairy animals and giving valuable information on feeding and breeding and dairy cattle and the proper methods to use in handling milk and butter.

The farmer or dairymen is shown how, at a small initial expense, he may start an up-to-date dairy and conduct it so as to yield steady and substantial profits. Milk samples will be tested and advice given based on the results of the tests.

The purpose of the Southern Railway in operating this car is purely educational. The Southeast yearly sends millions of dollars to outside sections for dairy products, when those products could be made at home. The most recent statistics show that Kentucky in an average year produces 38,131,000 pounds of butter and consumes 40,161,000 pounds. To help remedy this situation and to encourage greater attention to dairying in the South by furnishing farmers with practical knowledge of modern methods of dairying and the profits to be made from the industry, President Finley equipped the dairy car and sent it out for an extensive tour of the Southeast. It has been cordially welcomed in every section and hundreds of new dairies have sprung up as a result of its work.

Primary Elections for Selection of Candidates for Presidency Urged—Ultimate Independence of Philippines an Obligation—Double Duty Toward Alaska—Employers' Liability.

Washington, Dec. 2.—The following is President Wilson's complete message delivered to congress today:

In pursuance of my constitutional duty to "give to the congress information of the state of the Union" I take the liberty of addressing you on several matters which ought, as it seems to me, particularly to engage the attention of your honorable bodies, as of all who study the welfare of the nation.

I shall ask your indulgence if I venture to depart in some degree from the usual custom of setting before you in formal review the many matters which have engaged the attention and called for the action of the several departments of the government or have in the future, because the list is long, very long, and would suffer in the abbreviation to which I should have to subject it. I shall submit to you the reports of the heads of the several departments, in which these subjects are set forth in careful detail, and beg that they may receive the thoughtful attention of your committees and of all members of the congress who may have the leisure to study them. Their obvious importance, as constituting the very substance of the business of the government, makes comment and emphasis on my part unnecessary.

Country Is at Peace.

The country, I am thankful to say, is at peace with all the world, and many happy manifestations multiply about us of a growing cordiality and sense of community of interest among the nations, foreshadowing an age of settled peace and good will. More and more readily each decade do the nations manifest their willingness to bind themselves by solemn treaty to the processes of peace, the processes of frankness and fair concession. So far the United States has stood at the front of such negotiations. She will, I earnestly hope and confidently believe, give fresh proof of her sincere adherence to the cause of international friendship by ratifying the several treaties of arbitration awaiting renewal by the senate. In addition to these, it has been the privilege of the department of state to gain the assent, in principle, of no less than 31 nations, representing four-fifths of the population of the world, to the negotiation of treaties by which it shall be agreed that whenever differences of interest or of policy arise which cannot be resolved by the ordinary processes of diplomacy they shall be publicly analyzed, discussed, and reported upon by a tribunal chosen by the parties before either nation determines its course of action.

There is only one possible standard by which to determine controversies between the United States and other nations, and that is compounded of these two elements: Our own honor and our obligations to the peace of the world. A test so compounded ought easily to be made to govern both the establishment of new treaty obligations and the interpretation of those already assumed.

Huerta Must Let Go.

There is but one cloud upon our horizon. That has shown itself to the south of us, and hangs over Mexico. There can be no certain prospect of peace in America until General Huerta has surrendered his usurped authority in Mexico; until it is understood on all hands, indeed, that such pretended governments will not be countenanced or dealt with by the government of the United States. We are the friends of constitutional government in America; we are more than its friends, we are its champions; because in no other way can our neighbors, to whom we would wish in every way to make proof of our friendship, work out their own development in peace and liberty. Mexico has no government. The attempt to maintain one at the City of Mexico has broken down, and a mere military despotism has been set up which has hardly more than the semblance of national authority. It originated in the usurpation of Victoriano Huerta, who, after a brief attempt to play the part of constitutional president, has at last cast aside even the pretense of legal right and declared himself dictator. As a consequence, a condition of affairs now exists in Mexico which has made it doubtful whether even the most

Catarrh Victims

Get Immediate and Effective Relief By Using Hyomei.

Hyomei is nature's true remedy for catarrh. There is no stomach dosing—you breathe it.

When using this treatment, you breathe the healing balsams and effectively reach the most remote air cells of the throat, nose and lungs, the catarrhal germs are destroyed—quick and sure relief results.

Hyomei often restores health to chronic cases that had given up all hope of recovery. Its best action is at the start of the disease when the breath is becoming offensive, and constant sniffing, discharges from the nose, drippings in the throat, or that choked up feeling begin to make life a burden. At the first symptom of catarrhal trouble, surely use Hyomei. Ask B. L. Middleton for the complete outfit, $1.90. He will refund the money if it does not give satisfaction.

The burden of work carried by the United States post-office is enormous, and it is made vastly more onerous by reason of carelessness on the part of the public in sending improperly directed letters and packages. In Chicago, for instance, a recent count showed that out of 405,750 pieces of first-class mail received on one day, no fewer than 204,930, or 44 per cent, were insufficiently or improperly directed.

Have Beautiful Hair Use Parisian Sage

If your hair is too dry, brittle, dull, thin, or if the scalp burns and itches, immediately begin the use of Parisian Sage. The first application removes the dandruff, cools and invigorates the scalp and increases the beauty of the hair by making it soft—wavy—abundant.

Parisian Sage supplies hair needs. It is delicately perfumed—not sticky or greasy. Surely try a 50c bottle. Perry's Drug Store.

It is really interesting to note the comments of the State Journal and the Irvine Sun about the newspaper business of this city. These brothers seemed to be much perturbed regarding the statement by a former editor of the Climax that Richmond was a one-paper town, and from their wailings we judge they will be greatly disappointed if our newspapers are not placed in the hands of a receiver at an early date. The Climax cares not to enter into a newspaper controversy regarding a matter that concerns neither the Frankfort State Journal nor the Irvine Sun, but for their enlightenment we can truthfully say that so far as the Climax is concerned, it is not for sale, and more than that, it has always made splendid dividends on the capital invested, and we believe similar conditions exist with other papers published in this city. As for the Irvine Sun, it is yet in its infancy and has considerable to learn before it will be capable of giving expert testimony on the art of conducting a newspaper, especially at this distance, and for the benefit of the editor of the State Journal, we will say that the proprietors of the Climax refused to make a price on this plant to the gentleman who is credited with the statement that "Richmond is journalistically overloaded."

County Court.

Notwithstanding the inclement weather of Monday morning and the activity of many farmers who are busily engaged in stripping tobacco, a fairly large crowd came to town to attend county court. An unusually large supply of stock of all kinds was on the market and prices in most cases were satisfactory. About 1,200 cattle were reported at the Madison Stock Yards, with prices ranging from $3.50 to $7 per cwt. Everything was fairly well sold by Tuesday morning. The horse market was active and quite a number changed hands at good prices. Ten good business horses sold to shippers at $150 to $200. Few mules on the market, with ready sale for good stock at $175 to $225. Very little demand for suckling mules and they brought good prices.

Graham Stock Co.

The Graham Stock Co. is giving excellent shows at the Opera House this week, winning many friends by the carefulness of its productions. Each play is put on with an abundance of special scenery and with no tiresome waits between acts, for the vaudeville portion of the show alone is worth the price of admission. The specialties are entirely changed every night and include juggling, musical and roller skate acts, as well as the latest in song and dance. The plays for the last half of the week will be Thursday night—"The Divorce Question"; Friday night, a feature performance of the costume play—"The Two Orphans"; a Saturday matinee of "The Country Boy" and on Saturday night "New York by Night." At the Saturday matinee a package of good candy will be given free to every child attending. A $10 gold piece will be given away to the holder of the lucky number on Saturday night.

Wills of Entire Family Offered For Probate.
An occurrence undoubtedly without a parallel in the history of the Madison County Court took place in Judge Shackelford's court Monday, when the wills of an entire family was offered for probate. The testaments of Ben L. Banks, his wife and little son, Ben, Jr., were presented and the two former were probated and the latter rejected. Mr. Banks left his entire estate to his wife. Mrs. Banks bequeathed her estate to her husband, while Ben, Jr., willed to David Banks, a relative at Cane Valley, his bicycle, to his father and mother his automobile and his money to his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Banks, of Cane Valley, Adair county.

The will of Cyrus T. Fox was probated. Mr. Fox left his entire estate to his wife.

Paul Hanger Improving.
At the hour of going to press the condition of Paul Hanger, who was dangerously injured last Tuesday morning in a motorcycle accident, is greatly improved, and if no complications arise he will soon be in condition to leave the hospital. The greater part of the past week Hanger was in an unconscious condition, but for the past two days he has been normally rational and his improvement has been so marked that his recovery is now considered but a matter of time. For some days the attending physicians of young Mr. Hanger would not make a prediction regarding the outcome of his injuries, but at this time his restoration to health is assured, which is very pleasing news to a host of friends of this popular young man.

Our line of new canned goods, vegetables and dried fruits is now complete and our prices are right. D. B. McKinney. 16 f

Mrs. Vaughn Improving.
Mrs. T. C. Vaughn, who underwent an operation last week for appendicitis and whose condition was such as to cause much apprehension among her family and friends, was thought to be improved yesterday. Mr. Vaughn stated that his wife was more cheerful and appeared to be doing as nicely as could be expected. All her friends hope for her speedy recovery.

A Marriage To Be.

The friends of Arch Chenault, whom everybody knows as the popular young druggist with E. C. Wines & Co. a few years ago, now with a leading drug store of Jacksonville, Fla., were greatly surprised to hear the announcement of his engagement to be married to Miss Roach, daughter of the Chief of Police of that city. The marriage will take place Dec. 25 and the young couple will come at once to Richmond to spend their honeymoon. The Climax extends congratulations and will join with Mr. Chenault's host of friends in this city in giving them a cordial welcome and bidding them God-speed on the journey of life. It is usually most fitting to congratulate the groom on securing a good life companion and no doubt we can do so in this case but knowing Mr. Chenault as we do intimately and since childhood we beg to be allowed to especially congratulate the bride in giving her love and life to one so worthy, to so many a man as Arch Chenault.

RELIGIOUS.

Despite the many counter attractions these meetings are growing in interest, in interest and several have been added to the church. Dr. Wm. E. Ellis is an attractive speaker, and his sermons are being enjoyed by all classes. Mr. Charlton is a truly artistic singer, and one of the greatest in evangelistic circles today. If you have not heard him, be sure to come to-night. Sunday night a great congregation was present and heard for the first time the male quartette which Mr. Charlton has organized. This is one of the best series of meetings that has been held in Richmond for a long time. Services begin at 7:30 p.m.

Communion services will be held at Silver Creek Chapel, Sunday, December 8, at 10 o'clock a.m. Rev. W. M. Eldridge, of Paint Lick, will have charge of the services.

Rev. Mr. Peel, of Jessamine county, has concluded services at Bend school house, near College Hill.

On Sunday night in the near future an organ recital and some special numbers by the choir will be given.

We have everything new and fresh for making your Thanksgiving cakes.

Prof. Smith Attends K. E. A.

Prof. G. D. Smith, of Eastern Normal School, returned Saturday from Shelbyville, where he attended the meeting of the Eighth District Teachers' Association. He was elected to serve on the Executive Committee of the Association for the ensuing year. During the session Prof. Smith gave an interesting talk on the subject of "Horticulture." He proved by statistics that Kentucky farmers are getting but slight returns from the soil on the crops regularly cultivated—not excepting tobacco, which he declared had been a curse to the State—and advocated, as the solution of the problem which the agricultural class is facing, the systematic and scientific cultivation of fruits and berries for the market. He maintained that the climate and the soil are admirably adapted to both, and gave figures on returns from orchards, in comparison with which the money value of tobacco sinks into insignificance. He urged public school teachers to study the subject themselves and encourage it in their pupils.

Dies After Protracted Illness.

Mr. J. N. Flannery, of Valley View died Friday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Edgar Burgess, on Glyndon avenue, this city. Deceased was 66 years of age and had been in ill health, as a result of Bright's disease, for several years. His condition, however, did not assume an alarming stage until a few weeks ago, when he began to sink rapidly until death closed his eyes in dreamless sleep. Mr. Flannery was an excellent citizen and had many friends here and in the county who will learn with regret of his death. Nine children, all of whom except one were at his bedside, are left to mourn the departure of a father whose heritage to them is a life well spent. His wife died about a year ago. The funeral services were held Saturday afternoon, conducted by Rev. J. H. Culton, and were followed by interment in Richmond Cemetery.

Copenhagen is the most law abiding rate of homicides per 100,000 in Paris in the same year was 3.6; in New York, 3.9, plementary and fundamental rights

citizens of other countries resident within her territory can long be successfully safeguarded, and which threatens, if long continued, to imperil the interests of peace, order and tolerable life in the lands immediately to the south of us. Even if the usurper had succeeded in his purposes, in despite of the constitution of the republic and the rights of its people, he would have set up nothing but a precarious and hateful power, which could have lasted but a little while,
and whose eventual downfall would have left the country in a more deplorable condition than ever. But he has not succeeded. He has forfeited the respect and the moral support even of those who were at one time willing to see him succeed. Little by little he has been completely isolated.
By a little every day his power and prestige are crumbling and the collapse is not far away. We shall not,
I believe, be obliged to alter our policy of watchful waiting. And then, when the end comes, we shall hope to see constitutional order restored in distressed Mexico by the concert and energy of such of her leaders as prefer the liberty of their people to their own ambitions.

Currency Reform.

I turn to matters of domestic concern. You already have under consideration a bill for the reform of our system of banking and currency, for which the country waits with impatience, as for something fundamental to its whole business life and necessary to set credit free from arbitrary and artificial restraints. I need not say how earnestly I hope for its early enactment into law. I take leave to beg that the whole energy and attention of the senate be concentrated upon it till the matter is successfully disposed of. And yet I feel that the request is not needed—that the members of that great house need no urging in this service to the country.

I present to you, in addition, the urgent necessity that special provision be made also for facilitating the credits needed by the farmers of the country. The pending currency bill does the farmers a great service. It puts them upon an equal footing with other business men and masters of enterprise, as it should; and upon its passage they will find themselves quit of many of the difficulties which now hamper them in the field of credit.
The farmers, of course, ask and should be given no special privilege, such as extending to them the credit of the government itself. What they need and should obtain is legislation which will make their own abundant and substantial credit resources available as a foundation for joint, concerted local action in their own behalf in getting the capital they must use. It is to this we should now address ourselves.

Allowed to Lag.

It has, singularly enough, come to pass that we have allowed the industry of our farms to lag behind the other activities of the country in its development. I need not stop to tell you how fundamental to the life of the Nation is the production of its food. Our thoughts may ordinarily be concentrated upon the cities and the hives of industry, upon the cries of the crowded market place and the clangor of the factory, but it is from the quiet interspaces of the open valleys and the free hill-sides that we draw the sources of life and of prosperity, from the farm and the ranch, from the forest and the mine. Without these every street would be a silent, every office deserted, every factory fallen into disrepair. And yet the farmer does not stand upon the same footing with the forester and the miner in the market of credit. He is the servant of the seasons. Nature determines how long he must wait for his crops, and will not be hurried in her processes. He may give his note, but the season of its maturity depends upon the season when his crop matures, lies at the gates of the market where his products are sold. And the security he gives is of a character not known in the broker's office or as familiarly as it might be on the counter of the banker.

Efficiency in Farming.

The agricultural department of the government is seeking to assist the farmer before he makes farming an efficient business, of wide cooperative effort, in quick touch with the markets for foodstuffs. The farmers and the government will henceforth work together as real partners in this field, where we now begin to see our way
very clearly and where many intelligent plans are already being put into execution. The treasury of the United States has, by a timely and well-considered distribution of its deposits, facilitated the moving of the crops in the present season and prevented the scarcity of available funds too often experienced at such times. But we must not allow ourselves to depend upon extraordinary expedients.
We must add the means by which the farmer may make his credit constantly and easily available and command when he will the capital by which to support and expand his business. We lag behind many other great countries of the modern world in attempting to do this. Systems of rural credit have been studied and developed on the other side of the water while we left our farmers to shift for themselves in the ordinary money market. You have but to look about you in any rural district to see the result, the handicap and embarrassment which have been put upon those who produce our food.

Study Rural Credit.

Conscious of this backwardness and neglect on our part, the congress recently authorized the creation of a special commission to study the various systems of rural credit which have been put into operation in Europe, and this commission is already prepared to report. Its report ought to make it easier for us to determine what methods will be best suited to our own farmers. I hope and believe that the committees of the senate and house will address themselves to this matter with the most fruitful results, and I believe that the studies and recently formed plans of the department of agriculture may be made to serve them very greatly in their work of framing appropriate and adequate legislation. It would be indiscreet and presumptuous in anyone to dogmatize upon so great and many-sided a question, but I feel confident that common counsel will produce the results we must all desire.

Let Sherman Law Stand.

Turn from the farm to the world of business which centers in the city and in the factory, and I think that all thoughtful observers will agree that the immediate service we owe the business communities of the country is to prevent private monopoly more effectually than it has yet been prevented. I think it will be easily agreed that we should let the Sherman antitrust law stand, unaltered, as it is,
with its debatable ground about it,
but that we should as much as possible reduce the area of that debatable ground by further and more explicit legislation; and should also supplement that great act by legislation which will not only clarify it but also facilitate its administration and make it fairer to all concerned. No doubt we shall all wish, and the country will expect, this to be the central subject of our deliberations during the present session; but it is a subject so many-sided and so deserving of careful and discriminating discussion that I shall take the liberty of addressing you upon it in a special message at a later date than this. It is of capital importance that the business men of this country should be relieved of all uncertainties of law with regard to their enterprises and investments and a clear path indicated which they can travel without anxiety. It is as important that they should be relieved of embarrassment and set free to prosper as that private monopoly should be destroyed. The ways of action should be thrown wide open.

I turn to a subject which I hope can be handled promptly and without serious controversy of any kind.
I mean the method of selecting nominees for the presidency of the United States. I feel confident that I do not misinterpret the wishes of the country when I urge the prompt enactment of legislation which will provide for primary elections throughout the country at which the voters of the several parties may choose their nominees for the presidency without the intervention of nominating conventions. I venture the suggestion that this legislation should provide for the retention of party conventions, but only for the purpose of declaring and accepting the verdict of the primaries and formulating the platforms of the parties; and I suggest that these conventions should consist not of delegates chosen for this single purpose, but of the nominees for congress, the nominees for vacant seats in the senate of the United States, the senators whose terms have not yet closed, the national committees, and the candidates for the presidency themselves, in order that platforms may be framed by those responsible to the people for carrying them into effect.

Independence for Philippines.

These are all matters of vital domestic concern, and besides them, outside the charmed circle of our own national life in which our affections command us, as well as our conscience, to stand out our obligations toward our territories over sea.
Here we are trustees. Porto Rico, Hawaii, the Philippines, are ours, once regarded as mere possessions, are no longer to be selfishly exploited; they are part of the domain of public conscience and of serviceable and enlightened statesmanship. We must administer them for the people who live in them and with the same sense of responsibility to them as toward our own people in our domestic affairs. No doubt we shall successfully enough bind Porto Rico and the Hawaiian Islands to ourselves by ties of justice and affection, but the performance of our duty toward the Philippines is a more difficult and debatable matter.
We can satisfy the obligations of generous justice toward the people of Porto Rico by giving them the ample and familiar rights and privileges accorded our own citizens in our own territory and our obligations toward the people of Hawaii by perfecting the provisions of self-government already granted them, but in the Philippines we must go further. We must hold steadily in view their ultimate independence, and we must move toward the time of that independence as steadily as the way can be clear and the foundations thoughtfully and permanently laid.

Test of Responsibility.

Acting under the authority conferred upon the president by congress, I have already accorded the people of the islands a majority in both houses of their legislative body by appointing five instead of four native citizens to the membership of the commission. I believe that in this way we shall make proof of their capacity in counsel and their sense of the responsibility in the exercise of political power, and that the success of this step will be sure to clear our view for the steps which are to follow. Step by step we should extend and perfect the system of self-government in the islands, making test of them and modifying them as experience discloses their successes and their failures; that we

Doctors Use This for Eczema

Dr. Evans, Ex-Commissioner of Health, says: "There is almost no relation between skin diseases and the blood." The skin must be cured through the skin.
The serum must be washed out, and solutes have long ago been found worthless. The most advanced physicians of this country are now agreed on this, and are prescribing a wash of wintergreen, thymol and other ingredients for eczema and all other skin diseases. This compound is known as D.D.D. Prescription for Eczema.

Dr. Holmes, the well known skin specialist writes: "I am convinced that the D.D.D. Prescription is as much a specific for eczema as quinine for malaria, and I have been prescribing the D.D.D. remedy for years." It will take away the itchy instantly you apply it.
In fact, we are so sure of what D.D.D.
will do for you that we will be glad to let you have a $1 bottle on our guar-

INDIGESTION OVERCOME
Overcome by Simple Remedy.
Habitual and careless habits of eating, irregular meals and foods that do not harmonize, tend to weaken the digestive organs and result in different forms of stomach trouble.
If you are one of the unfortunates who have drifted into this condition, eat simple foods only, slowly, regularly and take Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic.
Mrs. H. J. Smith, Thomasville, Ga., says: "I suffered from a stomach trouble, was tired, worn out and nervous. A friend advised me to take Vinol. My stomach trouble soon disappeared and now I eat heartily and have a perfect digestion and I wish every tired, weak woman could have Vinol, for I never spent any money in my life that did me so much good."
The recovery of Mrs. Smith was due to the combined action of the medicinal elements of the cod's livers—aided by the blood making and strength creating properties of tonic iron, which are contained in Vinol. We will return the purchase money every time Vinol fails to benefit.

MARRIED
Mr. John W. Kirby and Miss Josie Anderson were married at the bride's home in Berea, Thursday.
Mr. John C. Gastineau, of Lancaster, and Miss Mary Preston, of Berea, were united in marriage in this city Thursday.
Mr. John Walton, of Brassfield, and Miss Carrie Lakes, of Panola, were united in the holy bonds of wedlock at the home of the bride's parents Thursday afternoon.
Mr. Lewis Eads and Miss Leona Wilson were married Thursday at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Preston Wilson, near Brookstown. The groom is a young farmer of that section, and has many friends who extend hearty congratulations to him and his attractive and popular bride.
Mr. Oakley Wells and Miss Irene McKinney were united in marriage Thursday afternoon at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Ophelia McKinney, near Union City. Mr. Wells is a son of Squire Robert Wells, Doyleville, and is an excellent young man and a farmer by occupation. This bride is a most charming young woman and will prove to her husband a helpmeet in all the world's implies. The happy couple have hosts of friends who join with the climax in extending to them the warmest wishes for a long and happy wedded life.

The Lancaster Record contains the following marriage notice, which will be of interest to many friends of the contracting parties in this county: "Miss Lacy Francis, of this city, and Mr. Geo. B. Bates, of Richmond, were married at the Francis home in this city on Thursday morning, November 20, Elder F. M. Tindler, of the Christian church officiating. The wedding was a very quiet one, only the immediate family and a few intimate friends of the contracting parties being present. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Bates took an automobile for Richmond, where they boarded a train for Cincinnati, and after a short stay in that city, they will be at home to their friends in Richmond. The bride is a daughter of the late Joseph L. and Mrs. Edna Francis, and is one of Lan Lancaster's most estimable ladies, while the groom is one of Madison county's leading farmers. The Record joins their best friends in congratulations."

A large number of guests were present at the first Christian church Wednesday evening to witness the marriage of Miss Sara Goodloe Benton to Mr. Willis Winn Battaille. It was indeed a scene of rare beauty, the elegant interior of the auditorium never showing to better advantage. The decorations were confined to the altar, stately palms, tiers of graceful ferns, bouquets of white arysanthemums and cathedral candles glowing out of the mounds of green made an effective setting.
Of all the ribbon guests none felt more intensely the dignity of the occasion than winsome Bessie Benton, the attractive sister of the bride, who, with five other daintily frocked little girls, Misses Eleanor Simpson, Nancy Gordon, Katherine Dinelli, Carolyn Bosworth and Elizabeth Minier occupied the front pew.
During the assembling of the guests, Mrs. Charles Reese rendered a number of organ selections; the strains from Lohengrin pealing forth, announced the beginning of the bridal party. The bride's maids, Misses Anna Coleman VanMeter, Merrie Rees, Mary Barrett Smith and Martha VanMeter, in gowns of white satin, with rare lace and court trains and carrying bouquets of maiden hair fern with dew drop tulip roses, preceded with slow step down the aisles and were met by the groomsmen, Messrs. William Evans, Gay Prewitt, W. S. Doty and Thompson Betts. All pausing on the broad steps leading up to the altar and awaited the Dame and Maid of Honor, Mrs. Withers Davis and Miss Katherine Headley, Messrs. Withers Davis and Curran Benton approaching from the other side, Rev. H. M. Rogers and Dr. William Cumming taking their places back of the prie-dieu. Every eye was then turned from this exquisite picture to the bride, who came with her distinguished father, who at the altar gave her in marriage to the groom and took his seat beside Mrs. Benton. Dr. Cumming offered the invocation and then the beautiful and appealing words of Rev. Rogers united them with the singing service, at the conclusion of which they knelt and received the blessing they found echo in every heart. The bride was a vision of girlish loveliness, her cream-white tinted satin dress with rose point lace. The soft folds of her bridal veil, held with orange blossoms, fell gracefully over her girlish figure. She carried a shower bouquet of Valley lilies and Brides' roses. The Maid and Dame of Honor each had their exquisite toiles enhanced by sea shell roses and fern. As the sweetly spoken words of the benediction ended, the organ gave forth the joyous notes of Mendelssohn's wedding march and the bride and groom led the way down the right aisle, the brightness of their countenance reflecting the great joy of this supreme moment of their lives.

The bride is one of Clark county's loveliest ladies, the daughter of Judge and Mrs. J. M. Benton, and endowed with all the charms of true womanhood. She comes of a long line of Virginia-Kentucky ancestry, which is linked with important history of the formative period of her native State to the present. Her life is a beautiful reflection of splendor and heritage. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Battaille and is a farmer, who, too, is a man whom Clark county feels proud to call her own. He resides with his parents at their lovely estate, "Winstay," on the Combs Perry pike, near this city.

This wedding has aroused a great deal of interest, and as a testimony of the high esteem in which the bride and groom are held, hundreds of beautiful gifts have been bestowed, among them a beautiful silver pitcher from the Richmond Bar. One of the loveliest compliments that the bride received was her conveyance to the church. Mr. and Mrs. David Matlack, "touched with magic hands of love" their splendid car, transforming it with billowy whiteness and garlands of blossoms into a veritable "Cinderella Coach," which, when it appeared at the doorway of the Benton home, gave the little bride a glad surprise.

After a bridal trip, Mr. and Mrs. Battaille will return to Winchester and be at home to their friends at "Winstay." A large number of out of town guests were present and the wedding was a brilliant affair.—Winchester Democrat.

Life With Depth.
Many a life that seems most exposed to the heat of the day has abundant refreshing for other lives. It is not always the outwardly sheltered soul that can offer to others the help of the deepest experiences. Close by a dusty mountain road, in a hot and swampy meadow, with no shade near it, is a little spring among the grasses. There is a stick in the ground beside it, with a cup thereon, and a sign, "Cold Spring." You hardly believe in the sign until, tired traveler that you are, you set your lips to a cup of that water. It is the coldest spring in the region, bubbling up among the grasses of the hot meadow, not gushing from moss-grown rock on the mountainside. The little meadow-spring has depth and shelter known to itself. Is this not also the secret of the life of that friend whose refreshing presence has often meant so much to you?—Sunday School Times.

The Oyster.
From time immemorial the oyster has been a favorite item in the menu of the human race. The famous "kitchen middens" of primitive times prove by their vast heaps of shells that the oyster was a prehistoric article of diet. And all through the historic ages this prince of bivalves has appealed to the appetite and taste of mankind. The Romans when they were masters of the world were themselves mastered by the oyster, their indulgence in it being one of the amusing chapters in gastronomic history. And in the modern dietetic world the oyster holds a lofty place. It has a position all its own; it cannot be imitated nor displaced; it can be eaten raw, or it can be cooked in many ways, and the lovers of good eating never seem to tire of it.—Leslie's Weekly.

Destructive Wild Cats.
A new type of cat has developed in Australia. It is regarded as one of the most destructive animals of that country. They are believed to be the descendants of domestic cats which have been turned out into the bush by their owners, have run away or have been turned out into the bush as a supposed enemy of the rabbit.
As they have practically no natural enemies in Australia, they have multiplied at a great rate, and are now established throughout the country. They live on small animals, lizards, opossums, and even young lambs, as well as rabbits.

Kentucky Educator Prepares Plan for Consideration by Coming Conference at Louisville.

Western Newspaper Union News Service. Frankfort, Ky.—Community organization in the rural South with the public school as the common center about which the organized activities of the countryside cluster, is the scheme of Prof. T. J. Coates, supervisor of rural schools in Kentucky, for reaching the vital need of rural life.
The rural problem will be the principal subject of discussion at the meeting of the Conference for Education in the South at Louisville next April, and Prof. Coates, who is the representative of the organization in Kentucky, has prepared a paper covering in a general way what he considers the best method of organizing the whole community. The dangers he foresees are the possibility that community life will be organized piecemeal into little unrelated groups with no permanent agency working for the advancement and improvement of all conditions, social, economic and moral.
Prof. Coates' program of organization with these two common interests, health and recreation.
Prof. Coates' program of organization of a rural community includes the following activities, which he will submit to the Conference for Education:

COMMON INTERESTS.
Health, Recreation.
SCHOOL AND CHURCH.
Studies, experiments, demonstrations; school farm, plants, poultry; home activities; home industry, hand work, art; home making, comfort, beauty; social life, recreation.

FARMERS' CLUB.
Production, farm management, methods of tillage; marketing, co-operative buying and selling; working capital, co-operative credit union; human culture.

BOYS' CLUBS.
Corn Club—Plant life, methods of cultivation; corn and its uses.
Pig Club—Animal life; breeds; methods.
Social Efforts—Debating; drama; sports.

GIRLS' CLUBS.
Canning Club—Plant life; methods of cultivation; canning.
Poultry Club—Animal life; methods, the eggs and its uses.
Home Arts—Needle work; painting; music.

WOMEN'S CLUB.
Home Making—Food; cooking; household management; hygiene; furnishing; labor-saving equipment.
Home Industries—Sewing; weaving; woodwork.
Social Enterprises—A library; literature.

Insurance Companies Comply.
The tangle involving insurance affairs in the state of Kentucky arising over the refusal of insurance companies to comply with rates fixed by the state insurance board, promises to result in a victory for the state commission. This prediction follows an announcement made in Frankfort by members of the commission to the effect that two of the largest fire insurance companies have announced their intention to withdraw from the Kentucky actuarial bureau and continue to do business in this state.

This break in the ranks of the protesting companies is considered a victory by the board and is taken as an indication that other companies will be compelled to fall in line in protection to themselves and accept the terms demanded by the state board. Fifty-six companies had previously announced their rebellion against the rates named by the state board, and threatened to withdraw all insurance from dwellings unless the board receded from its position. This latter declined to do.
When seen at Louisville members of the commission were jubilant over developments, and declare they will win their point without further controversy.

Complete Work on River.
Lock No. 6, thirty-one miles above Frankfort on the Kentucky river, was opened to navigation after being closed for two months while the valves were being repaired. Lock No. 8, near Camp Nelson, where new guides are being built, will be opened about December 20. This will complete the most important work on the river for the season.

Cane 1,000 Quarts Tomatoes.
One Kentucky girl canned 1,000 quarts of tomatoes raised by her on a tenth of an acre, besides supplying her family with all the tomatoes needed for domestic use. She realized a net profit of $75. She undoubtedly is state champion. The department of agriculture of the United States and Kentucky will push the canning club work in ten counties next year, giving $100 to the county on condition that it raise an equal amount for the employment of a woman to organize the clubs and supervise the work.

Playing with an old rusty revolver, Jas. J. McKoon shot and instantly killed his pretty 15-year-old bride, at New Orleans. They had just married the day before.

MAYOR RESIGNS
KEYS TURNED IN BY SHANK, WHO RESIGNS AFTER FAILING TO PREVENT A STRIKE.

No Interference With Property Rights Will Be Tolerated, Says New Executive.

Western Newspaper Union News Service. Indianapolis, Ind.—Facing a probable suit for impeachment, Samuel Lewis Shank resigned as mayor of Indianapolis. Harry R. Wallace, city controller, immediately took the oath of office as Shank's successor. His first official act was to issue a statement that, during the next six weeks, at the expiration of which his term will cease, he personally will direct the police department. He also stated that while he is mayor no interference with property rights or with the rights of citizens to conduct their business within the law will be tolerated. The members of the police department either will follow his orders or be forced out of service.
"I shall do my duty impartially and fearlessly," said Mayor Wallace. "I shall expect all officers of the city to do theirs or make way for those who will. The police situation at this time is so critical that I intend to take personal charge as long as it is necessary. That is all that I have to say. This is no time for talk, but for performance. When my duties end I want my acts to speak for themselves."

PISTOLS, AMMUNITION SEIZED.
New York.—Ten thousand rounds of rifle and revolver ammunition were seized by customs inspectors aboard the steamer Seminole, lying at her pier here. The Seminole is to sail for Haiti and San Domingo. Six automatic revolvers also were found. The confiscated ammunition was hidden in many parts of the vessel. The Seminole's officers said they placed the responsibility on members of the ship's crew. The ammunition was taken to New Jersey to be destroyed and the revolvers to the custom house.

HATCHET FIEND AT WORK.
Muskegon, Okla.—A mysterious murderer, who chops his victims to death with a hatchet, has made his appearance in this city, and already has slain two aged business men, leaving no clue leading to the establishment of his identity.

MUST SERVE HIS TIME.
New York.—Daniel H. Tolman, "King of the Loan Sharks," must serve six months in the penitentiary for usury. In so deciding the appellate division upheld the lower court which imposed sentence.

FOUGHT POSSES, KILLS HIMSELF.
Canton, Ill.—After fighting several hundred men for 13 hours, Frank McAdams, who murdered his wife at a Thanksgiving dinner, at Cuba, killed himself. Hundreds of shots were fired. The jaw of Policeman Hageman, who attempted to make the arrest, was shattered with a bullet. A four-year-old daughter of the McAdamses escaped injury, although she was on her mother's lap when Mrs. McAdams was killed. Jealousy was given as the cause of the initial tragedy.

MONEY, because of the material things it can buy, the political influence and the social prestige that its possession facilitates, becomes an efficient minister to selfishness, and therefore a great enemy of friendliness. The remedy is, to begin to use it as soon as one has even a little bit of it, in friendly ways.
—Edward Bosworth.

THINGS WE LIKE TO KNOW.

To keep comforters and blankets clean, have a strip of white cloth about twelve inches wide to face the ends of the bedding used next to the face.

Ice can be made to last almost twice as long by wrapping well in newspapers. When a crack appears in a stove it may often prove a great menace to life, especially if it is a coal heater. Mix wood ashes with common salt made into a paste with a little water, and plaster over the crack. It may be put on to a cold or a hot stove equally well.

Health Bran Bread.—Take two cups of graham flour, two cups of bran, two cups of white flour, one teaspoonful of salt, one egg, one pint of milk, or buttermilk, one cup of New Orleans molasses, one cup of raisins, two teaspoonfuls of soda and a half cup of boiling water. Mix well and steam three hours. Bake a half hour or more in the oven to dry off. Put into one pound baking powder cans and remove the covers when put into bake.

When one has part of a bottle of olives, pour a tablespoonful of olive oil over the liquid in the bottle and they will keep indefinitely without becoming tasteless.

A magazine heated in the oven will make a first rate foot warmer, or take the place of a hot water bag without any fear of a leak.

When putting pockets on aprons, place a small piece of the goods at each corner and stitch down twice, then nothing short of a wrench will tear it down.

Those who use radiators will find that after food has come to a good boil on the stove it may be placed on the radiator, and if well covered, will continue cooking. This is especially good for long, slow cooking.

Open the gas oven for the steam to escape before heating it for baking. The moisture runs down into the hinges of the door otherwise, and will in time rust them.

One mother who has several children away from home writes with impression paper, thus making as many copies as she needs. Each gets his letter, with any personal additions, with the work of but one.

G O ON with your work and be strong.

For an instant dole of praise, Stand to your work and be wise, Certain of success and gain.

SOME GOOD THINGS.

Stir up with a spoon a soft biscuit dough and fill greased muffin pans half full. Make a hollow in the center and fill with a little marmalade or jam. Bake in a quick oven and serve with cream or a liquid sauce, flavored with lemon juice or vinegar. This is a good emergency dessert to keep in mind when there seems nothing to have for dinner.

Spanish Rice.—Fry two large onions in salt pork drippings, then add one pint of tomatoes; when well boiled up add a pint of cooked rice. Set back on the stove to cook slowly, or in the oven for a half hour.

Chili Con Carne.—Boil until tender two cups of the little brown beans. Grind a pound of round steak, put into a saucepan to cook with cold water to cover; add a tablespoonful of butter, as much red pepper as you can endure, and cook an hour and a half. When the beans are tender, add them and cook an hour longer.

Spaghetti.—Fry a clove of garlic in a tablespoonful of olive oil or butter, add two tomatoes, sliced; cook until the tomatoes are smooth and cooked to a pulp. Prepare the spaghetti by boiling in salted water until tender. Drain and add to the tomatoes, well seasoned with salt and red pepper.

Garlic is one of our most wholesome flavor vegetables, but is in disrepute because of the unwholesome manner in which it is used by some. There should be just a suggestion of the flavor, illusive and indefinable, to make a perfectly flavored dish. Garlic is said to help digestion, and preserves one from epidemics and pestilential diseases.

Pleasant Hill, N. C.—"I suffered for three summers," writes Mrs. Walter Vincent, of this town, "and the third and last time, was my worst."

I had dreadful nervous headaches and prostration, and was scarcely able to walk about. Could not do any of my housework.

I also had dreadful pains in my back and sides and when one of those weak, sinking spells would come on me, I would have to give up and lie down, until it wore off.

I was certainly in a dreadful state of health, when I finally decided to try Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I firmly believe I would have died if I hadn't taken it.

After I began taking Cardui, I was greatly helped, and all three bottles relieved me entirely.

A DAY WITH LEFTOVERS.

To use mutton the day after—chop a small onion and fry in a tablespoonful of butter or other fat, then add a tablespoonful of flour and let it brown. Mix a tablespoonful of Worcestershire sauce, a tablespoonful of vinegar, pepper and salt, and a tablespoonful of red currant jelly with a cup of water. Cook all together, and when hot add thin slices of cold cooked mutton, and simmer for fifteen minutes or until the meat is well heated through.

Mutton De Boer.—This is a French method of using left-over boiled or stewed beef: Cut in slices four onions and cook them in butter or fat, add a tablespoonful of flour to form a roux, or sauce, and thin this with some of the broth of the meat, or bouillon, adding pepper and salt. In this sauce, which should be extremely thin, put in the meat cut in thin slices. Let it cook on a slow fire for an hour, stirring it from time to time. If the sauce becomes too thick, add broth or water. A little tomato sauce added at the last is relished by many.

Fish and Egg Pie.—Flake a pound of cold cooked white fish, cover with chopped parsley (a tablespoonful), add a tablespoonful of anchovy essence, two tablespoonfuls of butter and a half cup of cream or milk. Cover with a pastry made with two cups of flour, a teaspoon of baking powder and a half teaspoonful of salt, with a half cup of rich cream. Bake until the crust is well done, remove from the oven, lift the cover and pour in three well beaten eggs. Replace the crust, put in the oven for a minute or two. Serve very hot.

A good pudding sauce which will be all ready to use may be made from a little of the juice poured off from juicy apples when they are stewing. When wanted, add a little lemon juice and reheat.

A delicious sauce to serve with warmed-over meats is this: Chop one dozen olives fine. Brown a tablespoonful of butter, add a tablespoonful of flour and brown again. Stir in a cup of stock; continue to stir until smooth. Season with salt, pepper and Worcestershire sauce, then add the chopped olives, and cook slowly for five minutes.

Melted ice cream should not be thrown away; it may be used in cake or cookies, leaving out the milk called for in the recipes.

THANKSGIVING TABLE.

Frozen cranberries make a delicious change from the ordinary way of serving the berries at this season. Pick over and wash a quart of berries. Dissolve two cupfuls of sugar in two cupfuls of water and heat slowly until boiling hot, then add the cranberries and cook until soft; cool and add one-half cup of lemon juice. Rub through a sieve, turn into a melon mold and bury in ice and salt for four hours.

Dainty little individual pumpkin pies, baked in patty tins, are great favorites with the children and even grown-ups seem to tolerate them fairly well. Serve with a spoonful of whipped cream sprinkled with grated cheese, for the older people.

Candles, with pumpkin yellow shades for each corner of the table, go well with this centerpiece.

Thanksgiving Pudding.—To two cups of chopped suet add two cupfuls of fine bread crumbs, softened with one cup of grape juice; add three well beaten eggs, one-half cup each of brown sugar and molasses, salt, cinnamon and nutmeg to taste. Mix well and add one cup of raisins, chopped, one-half cup of dried currants, one-fourth cup of candied orange peel and a half cup of nutmeats, all well dredged with flour. Sift two teaspoonfuls of baking powder with a half cup of flour and add, beating, well. Put into well buttered molds or a mold and steam three hours. When ready to serve garnish the pudding with nut meats.

Sweet potatoes cooked until tender, then buttered and sprinkled with sugar, set into the oven to brown, make a pleasant change from the every day way of serving them.

Strength For Old People.

Old people, to overcome the weakening, debilitating effects of increasing old age, often make a very sad mistake in using so-called "remedies" that contain alcohol and dangerous or habit-forming drugs. Often this stuff, because it livens and brightens them up a little just after taking a dose, leads them to imagine that it is doing them good, when it isn't. Remedies that rely for their sale on such deceit, do harm, because the false excitement of the nerves and heart leaves them worse than they were before.

Reckall Olive Oil Emulsion is a real medicine—a splendid body and strength-builder, especially good for old people, because it furnishes to the system ingredients necessary to rebuild wasted tissues, strengthen the nerves, give new energy and a younger and livelier feeling to the body. It doesn't contain a drop of alcohol nor any dangerous drug. It may not make you feel better after the first dose, nor perhaps for several days. But if you don't feel much better and stronger before you have taken a quart as much as you have of other medicines that didn't help you, we will gladly give you back your money. That's certainly a square deal.

The four Hypophosphites it contains are used by leading physicians everywhere in debility, weakness and inability to disease, to tone and strengthen the nerves. Purest Olive Oil, one of the most nutritious, most easily digested foods known, being taken, with the hypophosphites, gives rich tissue nourishment to the entire system.

You who are weak and rundown, and you who are apparently well now, but are liable to suffer from various cold weather ailments, use Reckall Olive Oil Emulsion to get and keep well and strong. For the tired-out, run-down, nervous, emaciated or debilitated—the convalescing—growing children—aged people—it is a sensible pleasant-tasting aid to renewed strength, better spirits, glowing health. If it does not help you, your money will be given back to you without argument. Sold in this community only at our store—The Reckall Store—one of the more than 7,000 leading drug stores in the United States, Canada and Great Britain.—H. L. Perry's Reckall Store, Richmond, Ky.

One morning Jenkins looked over his garden fence and said to his neighbor:

"Hey, what are you burying in that hole?"

"It looks more like one of my hens."

"That's all right. The seeds are in side."

What He Waited For.

Rambling through the park one afternoon, a gentleman took a seat on one of the numerous benches and while in this resting position he noticed a small boy lyre close by.

"What's the matter, young man?" he kindly asked, addressing the youngster.

"Why don't you play with the other children?"

"I don't want to play," answered the boy.

"But why don't you want to play?" insisted the gentleman.

"I'm just waitin'," was the startling response of the boy. "A feller painted that bench about fifteen minutes ago, and I want to see you git up!"

The Man Who Neglects Himself.

When his condition points to kidney trouble takes an unwise risk. Backache, pain and soreness over the kidneys, nervous or dizzy spells, poor sleep, are all symptoms that will disappear with the regular use of Foley's Kidney Pills. They put the kidneys and bladder in a clean, strong and healthy condition.

The Knocker.

After God had finished the rattlesnake, the toad and the vampire, he had some awful substance left, from which he made a knocker. The knocker is a two-legged animal with a corkscrew soul, a water sogged brain and a combination backbone made of jelly and glue. Where other people have their hearts he carries a tumor of rotten principles. When the knocker comes down the street, honest men turn their backs, the angels in heaven take precipitate refuge behind their harps and the devil bar looks the gates of hell.—Missouri Brunswick.

Stomach Troubles Disappear.

Stomach, liver and kidney troubles, weak nerves, lame back and female ills disappear when Electric Bitters are used. Thousands of women would not be without a bottle in their home. Eliza Pool, of Depue, Okla., writes: "Electric Bitters raised me from a bed of sickness and suffering and has done me a world of good. I wish every suffering woman could use this excellent remedy and find out, as I did, just how good it is." As it has helped thousands of others, it surely will do the same for you. Waist high box—easy to load; makes the shortest turns and spreads evenly at corners; spreads when turning either way; positive force feed—no rolling forward of the load when the manure is moved toward the beater; even spreading until the last forkful is spread; made in seven sizes; wide and narrow boxes; special attachments for drilling and spreading lime.

Ask us also about our new wide spread attachment which scatters manure over an area eight feet wide—a very handy and convenient device for top dressing growing corn.

The next time you are in town stop and get a catalogue. Ask us to show you this machine—to show you how it will save work and increase profits. Give us a chance to prove that the Low Spread tops them all.
